

LEGATO, LLC IS...

a dynamic small business supporting the Department of Defense and Intelligence Communities since 2011. Legato has a wealth of experience across several fields and disciplines.

CORE VALUES

CUSTOMER

Customer satisfaction is the guiding focus for execution across all of Legato's programs. Today's work is tomorrow's past performance.

EMPLOYEE

Our employees are the key to our success. Legato constantly evaluates and aligns around each employee's career direction, as well as giving our employees the opportunity to shape company culture.

PASSION

Legato's corporate culture embraces passion for the work we do. This passion produces individual, team, and client success.

COMMITMENT

We are committed to all aspects of our business, to deliver a consistently high level of support to our customers.

INTEGRITY

Legato adheres to a strict code of ethics in all business relationships.

CORE COMPETENCIES

Systems Engineering: Legato provides requirements definition, allocation, and traceability at the system, sub-system, and configuration item levels; as well as risk management and mitigation at the enterprise level.

Network Engineering: Legato provides architecture development and engineering expertise across all network technologies.

Program/Project Management: Legato provides PMP Certified program and project management support to systems development efforts.

Cyber Security: Legato engineers deliver comprehensive Cyber Security, to include vulnerability minimization, threat prioritization and security process refinement.

Financial and Acquisition Support: Legato supports the government in all aspects of Acquisition and Financial Management, to include budget and portfolio management and the construction of acquisition packages.

DIFFERENTIATORS

Breadth of Capability: Legato brings the breadth of capability of a large business in a small business size.

World Class Resources: Legato invests heavily in our employees through education, training, and career development. Legato has in place a career development program with each of its employees. This program focuses not only on the skills and education required by the employee's position today, but also the skills and education required for the position the employee seeks to obtain in the future. Legato believes that people perform best when they are constantly challenged.

Matching Resources to Requirements: Legato has dedicated recruiting resources structured as part of a defined Recruiting and Staffing process, to establish the perfect match between customer requirements and company resources in a timely and efficient fashion.

Agile, Responsive Management: Legato maintains a relatively flat organizational structure, where Legato's program/project managers report directly to senior executive staff. This alignment provides our senior staff with constant performance input, enabling program risk management and problem avoidance.
